Un-Special Needs: There's More To Your Child Than "Special Needs"! Bev Linder
Are you tired of your child being defined by "special needs"? You know in your heart that there is a lot more to your beloved son or daughter than what might be their disability. There is, in fact, "a person in there," a person who is made in the image of God, and who has gifts, talents, and needs...special needs, yes, but more importantly, un-special needs! That is, needs that every kid has, and needs that often get overlooked because of the urgency of disability challenges. In this book, you are invited to turn your focus away from the all-encompassing, vortex-like pull of special needs, and to begin to focus more on the person who lives inside, who might not be often seen, because of the problems that surround him or her. God's Word applies to all people...to all kids...and in it, it is clear that no one is an accident, and that every person is made to touch lives and to, in some way, be a reflection of their Creator to the world in which they live.
