They say keep your friends close and your enemies closer but what happens when your friends are your enemies? Paris Johnson is a young naive girl born and raised in the cold streets of Baltimore. She goes off to college with hopes of escaping the perils of city life only to find that trouble can reside anywhere. On this life altering journey, Paris learns that her criteria for trusting others is vital to her very own existence. In her life nothing is as it seems. Can she trust her boyfriend? Can she trust her friends? Can she even trust her self? Will she continue to succumb to the dangerous lifestyle that she has become accustomed to or break loose, rise to the occasion and take control of her own destiny?
